CONSOLIDATED CARPET PARTNERS WITH MAXXON CORPORATION TO PROVIDE TOP-TIER GYPSUM FLOORING PRODUCTS TO THE TRI-STATE MARKET

NEW YORK—January 14, 2010 – Consolidated Carpet (Consolidated) is pleased to announce that it has entered into a partnership with Maxxon Corporation (Maxxon) to provide superior underlayment and gypsum products to the tri-state area.

Under this new collaboration, Consolidated will supply only Maxxon's gypsum products for its projects in the tri-state area. This close collaboration will allow both firms to expand their work in high-rise commercial and residential properties and provide Consolidated with a wider range of top-quality flooring products. "Maxxon has continually proven the quality of their products and service. Consolidated is pleased to work with such a high caliber partner in the flooring industry," says David T. Meberg, President and Chief Executive Officer of Consolidated.

Maxxon and Consolidated have developed a strong working relationship through previous collaborations on projects around New York City. Most recently, Consolidated employed Maxxon products in an upscale Upper East Side renovation that required joining two 3,000 square-foot penthouse apartments into one spacious unit. Consolidated used Maxxon's pre-sanded Dura-Cap® to address construction issues related to a lack of street-side set-up space, maximize the workspace inside the penthouse, and allow workers to complete installation of the new floor more efficiently.

Other projects Consolidated has worked on with Maxxon include a Best Buy in Eatontown, NJ; the condominiums at 545 Washington Avenue in Brooklyn; Park Lane at Seaview Apartments in Staten Island; and the Madison Avenue office of CB Richard Ellis Group, Inc. in Manhattan.

Maxxon pioneered gypsum-based flooring products in the early 1970s and continues to provide innovative solutions to meet today's flooring challenges. As a partner, Consolidated not only provides Maxxon's products for use on construction sites, but also works closely with the Maxxon team to make sure that each project is completed to exceed expectations.
